Fall 2014:

Nationwide
nonviolent action
toward banning drones,
ending poverty,
and stopping the
environmental crisis.

We are constantly being astonished these days at the amazing discoveries in the field of violence.
But I maintain that far more undreamt of and seemingly impossible discoveries will be made in the field of nonviolence.

CAMPAIGN NONVIOLENCE

a new movement
to transform our lives
and to change our world through the power of active nonviolence

Join Campaign Nonviolence!

Campaign Nonviolence is a new movement taking a stand against the widespread violence and injustice we face today by promoting and activating the power of nonviolence in our lives, our communities, our nation, and our world.

At this critical turning point we are called to become people of nonviolence working to transform our world of violence into a new nonviolent culture where people everywhere practice nonviolence toward themselves, one another, and the earth and its inhabitants. To support this long-term goal, Campaign Nonviolence is launching a movement integrating education, action, and networking for nonviolent change:

- Education. Campaign Nonviolence will publish resources, organize study groups, hold workshops and speaking events, and use social media and traditional media to spread the message of nonviolence far and wide and to train campaign participants.
- Action. Campaign Nonviolence will take nonviolent action to help build this culture of nonviolence, focused first on dismantling the U.S. drones program; confronting systems that keep people in poverty; and stopping the destruction of the environment. Nationally coordinated nonviolent actions will be held before the 2014 Congressional elections calling for these policy shifts. Between now and then, Campaign Nonviolence is organizing across the US to take nationally coordinated, nonviolent action in Fall 2014 and beyond. Join us!
- Networking. Campaign Nonviolence will grow by building a network of organizations, peace and justice groups, schools, religious communities, and people of faith and conscience to help mainstream nonviolence and to collaborate in transforming the nation and the world into a culture of active nonviolence. Campaign Nonviolence will also partner with other organizations and individuals to develop a national nonviolence trainers network.

Unleashing
the power of nonviolent
change
for a world
that works for all

The Campaign Nonviolence Pledge commits us to begin or renew our efforts to take up the way of active nonviolence practiced by Mahatma Gandhi and Martin Luther King, Jr. Everyone is invited to take the Campaign Nonviolence Pledge and join this new movement for peace with justice for humanity and creation.
